L. James Jenkins Is Appointed Dealer In Torrance For Hudson and Terraplane Cars

Terraplane Sedan—the roomiest car in the lowest price field. This car has full three-passenger width in both the front and rear seats.

L. James Jenkins, Willys 77 distributor of 1316 Cabrillo avenue, Torrance, announces his appointment as dealer in this territory of the Hudson and Terraplane motor cars.

Completely new, and more modern than ever in appearance, more luxurious in style, and with a wealth of engineering development, the new Terraplanes for 1936 are now on display at Jenkins show room. Not only do the new cars attain entirely new standards of beauty, but they incorporate safety engineering features to a degree never before found in automobile chassis and bodies. In addition, there are a number of innovations of a fundamental nature which no cars have ever had before.

Although these cars are still in the lowest price field, they are much bigger and finer than their predecessors of the same make. Of interest from a safety, as well as comfort standpoint, is the wholly new principle, radical safety control, which makes possible greater safety in riding, steering and stopping. So marked a difference does this new front end system incorporate in the riding qualities of the car that the manufacturers of the Terraplane have given the name, Rhythmic Ride, to the result of the synchronized and unified suspension system.

This new front end system also introduces Tru-Line steering, bringing a new road sense to the steering wheel because of the accurate control of the steering system, regardless of road condition. Another new feature is the Duo-Automatic hydraulic brakes which incorporate a big husky hydraulic system with the double safety factor of an automatic reserve brake of the rotary-equalized mechanical type.

On the bodies, which have one-fifth more room inside than many cars selling at double the price, is the automatic draft eliminator—a feature added to Terraplane's all-year ventilation system which automatically equalizes air pressure inside and outside the car and screens the air entering the body in connection with the ventilating system.

Mounted on a full 115-inch wheelbase and equipped with an 88 horsepower engine, and 100 horsepower available optionally, the car is not only roomier, but is capable of maintaining the reputation that Terraplane has established for performance. This car carries on the tradition of the models which have broken AAA records for speed, economy and hill climbing, all over the country. The bodies are all of steel, having a steel floor, steel roof and a complete steel structure throughout. The electric hand which was introduced on the Terraplane last year for smoother, safer, faster, gear-shifting, is optional on all models. The Terraplane is made in two series—Deluxe and Custom. A full line of bodies being available in either series.

In the bodies extra leg room, elbow room and shoulder room, has been provided. The sedans are full six-passenger capacity with seats three inches wider front and rear than those normally considered standard. The seats are 50 inches wide in front and 49 inches in the rear. At shoulder and elbow height, 58 inches of width is provided above the arm rest, and because of the three-inch longer wheelbase, more leg room is provided lengthwise.

The body is more completely insulated than any bodies previously made. The sound insulation of the Terraplane bodies for 1936 has been carried to an extremely high standard. Various insulating materials are employed to damp out any possible vibration.

The introduction of automatic draft elimination in the Terraplanes for 1936 brings a feature to this low price car which will be found for the first time in cars at any price. The system insures a supply of clean, fresh air to the occupants of the cars. It completes the all-year ventilating system in that it filters the incoming air supply, permitting air to only enter the car at a definite point when the ventilating system is in use.

Safeway Heartily In Accord With New Social Security Legislation

California's new Unemployment Reserves Commission today was offered the full co-operation of Safeway Stores, Inc., in administering the state's Unemployment Reserve Act, and the Federal Social Security Act, both of which are to become effective on January 1.

Provisions of both laws have been closely studied by officials of Safeway Stores who are now prepared to carry them out in the future interests of their employees throughout California.

Safeway's officials met with members of the commission, recently appointed to administer the act in California, and advised them of their desire to assist in every possible way in preparing for the proper execution of the law in this state.

"It is our desire to see that every feature of the new measures is properly carried out by our company in the interest of our employees," L. A. Warren, president of Safeway Stores, Inc., informed the commission.

"Establishment of adequate social and economic safeguards for the welfare of employees and their dependents has always been of great concern to our company," Warren said.

"Four years ago we established a system ourselves where by our employees and their families would be protected against financial losses caused by sickness, accidents, or death through a program of free insurance administered by a newly established Safeway Employees Association.

"Every employe of Safeway is afforded free accident, health, and life insurance, and in addition is enabled to enjoy a broader social contact with his fellow workers. Safeway has always had a genuine concern for the welfare of its personnel. This is demonstrated with the payment of good wages, good working conditions, opportunities for promotion, and the enjoyment of greater social, fraternal and protective benefits through the Safeway Employees Association.

"Consequently we feel that the intent of both the California Unemployment Reserve Act and the Federal Social Security Act has long been part of the spirit of Safeway as evidenced by its record in providing for the future welfare of its personnel.

"As a result, we naturally are able to promptly provide for the incorporation of the provisions of the two new laws in the business operation of our company. We shall thus do everything within our power to help the new commission in its work of administering the law in this state."
